“ The first time I met Anthony was in 5th grade. On Friday's we could bring records to play and he brought, Play that funky music white boy. I never hear that song without thinking of him. We were in American History together our Junior year. I remember him being so sweet and funny. My thoughts and prayers are with his friends and family.

“ You were always one of the best, no doubt there. You were always the one with hope, cheer and happiness and a prayer no matter what. There will never be another like you and you will be missed my multitudes that have had the liberty of knowing you. Rock on.

“ I went to school with Anthony, elementary and on. It was in 3rd grade that he and I had to sit in front of the class next to the teachers desk. We were special...Mrs. Coleman wanted to see us better she would say. I was shy and Anthony made me talk to him. He was very nice to me ever since. Peace and understanding. “ I went to school with Anthony from the beginning of elementary school. When he was young he was a livid football fan. He played it everyday at recess. He always had the blondest hair and the prettiest eyes. He will definitely be missed. I enjoyed keeping up with him on FB and seeing our mutual love for Boston Terriers. RIP Ace!

Ace was always a true friend and would talk to you about anything any time, and would tell you like it is. I had the privilege to work with him in Sonic Distortion for a few years and we developed a strong brotherhood. He taught me how to forgive and forget instead of reacting with anger which I used to do far too often. He made me a better person by just being Ace. I will miss him everyday. He endured so much and did it with a smile. He gave everyone who knew him so selflessly. I loved him dearly.

“ You are forever embedded in my heart. I met you 15 years ago when i showed up at a bar to see a band named Sonic Distortion and that when i met a true friend. the entire time you were the most sincere, funny, opinionated (and I loved it), talented, caring, and incredibly selfless individual. Thank you for letting me share your life as a friend. You were taken from all of us way too soon and that void will never be refilled. The Lord has called you home to be free of pain and I know he knows best but I can't help but to think selfishly that I still want you with us. My prayers to the Eversole family
