“ Darling I miss you so much. The kids are devastated without you. We need you and miss you and love you. Every day is harder then the day before. I love you. We wish you were here so bad. I wish I could turn back the hands of time, but I know I couldn't have done anything differently. I love you baby, I miss you so much. My whole insides feel like they are being sucked out of me, it physically hurts so much. You had so much to live for. I alone knew your pain, and wish there would have been some way to heal it. “ One more final message, my friend. What a void is left by this. I will do my best to be there for the kids and Christy. The tears are heartfelt. I miss our time together and our talks and us helping each other. Rest in God's arms, now buddy. I'll see you soon, as life is just a fleeting moment and there is nothing promised, except to trust in God. My emotions are running wild, but the faith is strong, my friend. I miss you. “ Hey Dave...I love you. I miss you. I really don't even know what I'm doing here but I just wanted to talk to you. I can't sleep Dave. I break down crying for no reason. I want to be able to argue with you just one last time that I didn't turn the radio up when we were little. I just want to hear your laugh, see your smile, and hear "AAAMMMBBBEEERRR!!!" when I do something wrong. Dave, watch over me. And also, Dave, since I can't argue with you anymore about the radio. I would like to admit to you that it was me. I turned it up. I just kept the funny arguing going so we could have something to laugh about. We argued about it for what 20 years? Well, you heard it, I will admit it finally now that I have no one to argue with. I wish you were still here. I love you. I miss you my one and my only brother.##imported-begin##Amber Mehagan##imported-end##

We instantly hit if off despite the 25 year difference in our age and spent many days after that hunting for arrowheads and artifacts on the Arkansas River.
