“ Some of my best childhood memories was at my Grandmothers house. All the family dinners and yes the big 4th of July gatherings. Playing with all my cousins, she would let us have sleep overs there together. They would load all of us kids in the back of the pickup for a 'spook' ride around the mile section. There was nothing like going to my grandparents farm. She let me help bake cookies and can beans. Once we even made hoghead cheese. She planted gardens and flowers and we picked up pecans. Went berry picking and hunted sand plums for jelly. There was fishing at the pond and camping trips to the lake.

She taught me about God and Love. How to be kind and true. I feel beyond blessed to have her for a Grandmother.

Dawn, I loved going to her house when I was smaller, she was so good of a cook ad as I got older we lay across her bed and we piped zits on others back. I loved being around her my whole life ❤️

“ I have many memories of Aunt Dori. But my favorite ones are the 4th of July celebrations when we had a huge family weiner roast, fireworks, sack races & " propane tank rides" on the longest tank I've still ever seen. It may not have actually been as long as it really is, but as a child it would easily hold 6 or 7 of us kids playing on it. Memories of riding to church with her & assisting me with Grandma whom I stayed with the last 6 months of her life. She would give me a couple dollars & keys to her car & send me to town to get things on a list...letting me get outta the house for a while. Memories I alone can cherish.
