Contributions in Ed's memory can be made to "dailee.needs", an organization established and created by Ed Taylor's granddaughter in 2021. This movement is fueled to identify and meet the needs of others. After experiencing challenges and hardships in her own life, she decided to use her experiences to make a positive impact on others. During 2021, "dailee.needs" provided hygiene products for over 100 homeless citizens in the Tulsa area, 200 duffle bags filled with hygiene products for children in the Oklahoma foster care system, and paid 4 utility bills for single working parents. This has all been made possible through the generosity of others.

Arrangements have been entrusted to the McClendon-Winters Funeral Home of Beggs. Memories, condolences, photos and videos may be shared with the family on Ed's Tribute Page of our website at www.mcclendon-winters.com

Services will be live streamed at <https://www.crossroadsbaptistbeggs.org/>

“ I first met Ed at Sequoyah Grade School around 1953. It was clear he was destined to lead; his stature set him out front and his keen competitive initiative combined with poise and common sense made his team the one to join in class or on the playground. I admired Ed all the way through high school. As our lives took separate tracks, periodic class reunions confirmed Ed was continuing to lead in the Way of God. Privileged to know him.

“ On behalf of the Tahlequah High School Class of 1963, I would like to repeat what one classmate said to summarize what we thought of Ed. He said "Big Ed was one of our best." How true. Ed was well liked. Several of us met Ed and Carolyn in Muskogee on November 30. We had a great visit and appreciated the opportunity to see both of them. He was tired but tried not to show it. It was the last time we saw him. However, one day we will see him again. Our love to Carolyn, Keith, Michelle and other family members. Sue Berry.

“ Carolyn, Michelle, and Keith...so very sorry to hear of the passing of Ed. I remember him to be such a kind and caring man. He helped raise wonderful children and I know that his whole family will miss him terribly. Please keep those sweet memories close to your heart forever as I know you will. May he RIP as he is whole and healthy once again.
