

Ella Mae Jamison

January 29, 1917 - December 24, 2011

Ella Mae Jamison went home to be with the Lord at Owasso Baptist Village, Owasso, Oklahoma, on Christmas Eve, December 24, 2011, surrounded by her loved one Mellony Alexander. Ella Mae was born January 29, 1917 to Earl and Annis Stephens. Ella Mae lived on her family farm in Beggs, Oklahoma most of her life. Ella Mae was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Coleman Jamison; brothers: Clarence and Lawrence Stephens, sister Anna Stephens; granddaughters: Patsy and Bridgette Johnson. She was a mother, grandmother, great grandmother, great-great grandmother, friend, leader, mentor and a true child of God. A true pillar in her community in which she lived, she left her mark wherever she went. Ella Mae professed a hope in Christ at an early age. She was a member of the Greater Mount Zion Baptist Church in Beggs, Oklahoma. She was a member of the Golden Link Chapter #72. She was committed to her lodge for many years until her husband's health failed.

In 1965 she married Coleman Jamison, and of this union a family was born. Coleman became ill in 1989. She committed 10 years of her life taking care of him. She loved her family. In 2010 her health began to fail her and she moved to Broken Arrow with granddaughter Mellony Alexander. In January 2011 she became a resident of Owasso Baptist Village, where she could receive the proper care for her illness. She made many friends during her stay and will be missed greatly by staff.

She is survived by daughter, Earlene Leal (Los Angeles, California); five grandchildren, Marsha Clark (San Jacinto, California), Dierdre Clifton and husband Marvin (Tulsa, Oklahoma), Mellony Alexander (Broken Arrow, Oklahoma), Rolanda Parnell and husband Harvey (Los Angeles, California), Todd D. Williamson (Los Angeles, California), favorite grandson-in-law, Richard Clark (Beggs, Oklahoma); thirteen great-grandchildren; twenty-one great-great grandchildren; her only second cousin remaining Sidney Lewis; a host of other cousins, nieces, nephews and many many friends and close associates.
