“ I took this picture of Dakota and Kayson August 31st I went to the games just to watch you guys, I was always yalls cheerleader I wish I went to more games I used to get so happy it just from hearing Kayson's name everytime it came on the loudspeaker ashley would laugh at me because I would be smiling so hard or boosting you so much but I didnt care what others thought about me talking about you. You came along way in football since you were 13. I've always been so proud of you on how strict you were on yourself just to make something of yourself. I always talked so highly of you I just wish I had more time to spend with you it was like my little brother just disappeared. You were so confident in yourself you knew how good you were at anything you did, that's what I liked about you. You were so such a go-getter you wouldn't waste any time in life. I'm glad i went to the games this year I almost missed it.
