“ We have been through thick and thin together. We have shared every birthday together even all the holidays. You were the sister I never had. I will never forget you telling Daddy and Momma you would never eat turtle and one night at the house you stayed all night. We sat down to eat dinner and the whole time saying how good it was. After dinner Daddy told you “Laura that was turtle not chicken” you flipped that chair over backwards went to the bathroom and threw it up. The 4 of July’s always exciting weather it be playing softball, shooting off bottle rockets ending in so ones pants or simply having BBQ’s making homemade ice cream celebrating Aunt Tinker’s birthday, I love you and will always cherish being able to share our lives together. RIP Laura I will always love you!
