“ I am so torn up over loosing Margaret. She lived across the road the from me growing up, we were dear friends all through school. I thought we would remain friends throughout life, but went out separate ways. I had talked to her a couple of times in the last ten years, hoped to see her, but she never seemed like she wanted to try? I wanted to meet but she didn't seem to want to make the effort, I couldn't figure out why. Now I will never know. I loved Margaret so much. She was and will always be "Snowballs" to my family!
